

THE SOURCE FOR INTELLIGENT LUXURY LIVINGSM

AVENTURATM

HOW TO BEAT BREAST CANCER

Discover the top treatment options in South Florida

The Style File:
Metallic makeup
& Bohemian fashion
are all the rage for Fall

GET ON BOARD
3 Ways to Enjoy the Yachting Lifestyle

Charlize Theron's Blonde Ambition

Thirty films later, her star shines more brightly than ever

Going Green in Plantation

Doing her part to educate the public and offer up attractive, exciting alternatives to toxic and environmentally harmful products, entrepreneur Mylene D'Arelli has opened Green Dwellers, a fashionable and socially conscious boutique in Plantation where concerned consumers can find beautiful products made from organic, recycled, renewable or sustainably harvested materials. D'Arelli, who has a background in interior decorating and merchandising, felt it was time to help people incorporate green living principles into their homes, since that's where so many toxins and allergens can often be found, but without sacrificing the element of style. Green Dwellers' departments include bedding, bath, décor, dining, pet and toys, as well as miscellaneous "fun" items, plus there's a Kids' Lounge where a play area is stocked with non-toxic toys, a chalkboard, and educational videos. For more information, call 954.533.2295 or visit greendwellers.com.